Abstract

The present invention provides compositions, articles and methods having small cyclic peptides that can inhibit or prevent skin irritation caused by proteolytic activity.